INDIANHEAD
Vol. XIX

213399

Symbolic of the quest and thirst for knowledge and a better life, students have the patience to wait many hours to register for their courses. Such is the demand for education.

Foreword

College exist to create educated men. The reasons which lead the undergraduate to college are varied indeed; but the individuals who will become truly educated have in common, at least, a desire for excellence, a deep appreciation and love for beauty, and a thirst for truth and understanding. The characteristics are concomitant with a fervent desire to attain a world view and some degree of universal understanding which is so desperately needed by both the leaders and followers of our day.

The desires of the undergraduate are met on the college level through a study of great literature, the fine arts, history, and science; however, his desires have to be met ultimately by something beyond the intellect. To know truth and understanding, the individual must practice justice, and exercise humility; and, most important, this must be done in the company of his associates.

College life, as it exists inside and outside of the classroom, tries to meet the desires of the undergraduate, for it offers him the opportunity to learn of great thoughts, new ideas, high ideals, and undiscovered worlds of wisdom. It is with this view that the Indianhead Staff presents the varied aspects of college life.

PEMBROKE STATE COLLEGE

PEMBROKE, NORTH CAROLINA

June 3, 1964

OFFICE OF
THE PRESIDENT

My Dear Friends:

Nearly everyone has dreams, hopes, and aspirations, and the incoming freshman student is no exception to this. He has many dreams of achieving honor and glory through sports. He has many hopes of the life he will live and the family he will have after he has been graduated. He has aspirations of the position he will hold in his community.

By the time this student reaches his senior year in college, he still has his dreams, although they may be modified or changed. He understands what his capabilities and his limitations are. He has caught a glimpse of new vistas, new viewpoints, and new worlds.

For a person with dreams and aspirations, college can be a rewarding experience. By the furthering of his education, a person can make almost any dream come true. In 1887, the people of Pembroke realized this, expanded; so, too, did the college.

The Senior Class of 1963-64 contains people with high ideals and hopes. I am sure that the education which our students have received will not let them down, for they know that the fulfillment of dreams requires one most important element -- work.

Sincerely,

English E. Jones
President
Pembroke State College

EEJ:bp

English E. Jones, President
Pembroke State College

Dedication

A person who fills several capacities is likely to be known by a great number of people. Mr. Kenneth Kersh is known in some respect by nearly every student on campus. The male segment knows him as a helpful, considerate, and understanding Dean of Men. Students of education courses know him as an inspirational and dedicated professor. Any student who passes him on campus knows him as a friendly, warm personality.

With deep appreciation for the attitude he shows toward the college, toward the student body, and toward the individual student, the Senior Class dedicates the 1964 Indianhead to Mr. Kenneth G. Kersh.

Teacher of the Year

Whether in the classroom or on the field, whether teaching a course in anatomy or instructing basketball plays, Mr. Howard Dean, class instructor and coach, conveys an intense interest in and enthusiasm for the courses or games.

In appreciation for his spirit and interest, the Senior Class has chosen Coach Dean as Teacher of the Year.

ADMINISTRATION

Board of Trustees

A college cannot operate without the interest and care of various groups. Pembroke State College relies upon its Board of Trustees for administrative policies which will insure a progressively good future for the College. We take this opportunity to express our gratitude to each member of the board for the time, effort, and care he affords this institution.

ORGANIZATIONS

Throughout the history of human progress, man has constantly sought an escape from the reality of life and its situations. Perhaps it has been because of this fact that he has turned to drama as an outlet of his emotions and, in a sense, as a fulfillment of his own hopes and dreams. However, in recent decades, dramatic production has deservedly succeeded in gaining the reputation of being an art in itself -- a reputation denied by few men and held high by members of the profession. The Alpha Psi Omega honorary dramatics society is quite representative of this fact, as men and women find new prestige by devoting their talents to the enjoyment of others.

Members include Josephine Locklear, Margaret Warren, and Donna Fauscett.

The Band

Under the direction of Mr. Ralph Finn, the College Band participates in numerous activities on the college campus and in surrounding communities. During the fall, the band played in the Pembroke Veteran's Day Parade, in the Red Springs Farmers' Festival, and at the College Homecoming ceremonies. Prior to Christmas vacation, the band played in the Florence, South Carolina, Christmas Parade and presented a Christmas concert on campus. The band provided a woodwind ensemble for the campus Religious Emphasis Week in February, and it presented a Spring concert. During the entire year, the band provided a lively background of music for pep rallies and appropriate assembly program concerts.

Indianhead Staff

MESSAGE FROM THE STAFF

Members of the INDIANHEAD Staff have attempted to record Pembroke State just as it has been throughout the year. We have used our ideas to put your academics, activities, and organizations in a form that you will cherish for years to come. The happenings of this eventful year were molded into this tangible record. The staff, who worked long and assiduously, will soon be forgotten; but perhaps 1964 as recorded herein will remind every one of you that you were a part of that period of life known as "college days."

Dr. Lee M. Beall, Faculty Sponsor, and Betty Braswell, Editor, with an expression of happiness that comes only after meeting the deadline.

James H. Spell
Staff Photographer

What is an annual? Is it a book of memories, a directory of information, or just another dust collector? An annual holds a different meaning for each individual connected with its production. To the casual reader, it may simply be a moment's interest; to the college staff, who know the efforts necessary for its completion, it may simply be another job and, at times, an imposition. Perhaps it is only to the Indianhead Staff that the year's annual edition means something deeper, more memorable. To them, it is the child born as the result of a year's long and diligent supervision, inspiration, disappointment, goals, and failures. Then, finally, the emergence of a reality from all of those dreams, and in their hands is held a tangible evidence of planning, of hoping, and sometimes even praying.

The Pembroke Players consists of students interested in dramatics, and the club serves as an auxiliary for those working towards Alpha Psi Omega. Annually these people present several plays to the student body.

The PINE NEEDLE

Pine Needle Growth

The "Pine Needle" is the fruit that is produced by the Journalism class at Pembroke State College. It serves many purposes on the campus as well as in the surrounding area. The "Pine Needle's" first and foremost purpose is to provide the students of the Journalism class with an opportunity to gain knowledge, insight, and experience in writing news items, feature stories, and editorials which they will actually see in print. It also furnishes them with on the job training in almost all phases of newspaper work, such as composing headlines, proofreading, editing, and makeup.

In a wider range the "Pine Needle" serves all of the students and faculty members at P.S.C. and many of the parents and friends in the surrounding area. It brings these people news items and information about college activities that they would not receive by other means. It also serves the students outside of the Journalism class by giving them an opportunity to voice certain opinions and ideas.

The "Pine Needle" is a part of Pembroke State College. Its history is almost as old as the college, and it like the college has grown tremendously during the past years. It has advanced from a typewritten mimeographed single page to an eight page tabloid size newspaper printed on a modern printing press. Jane Chavis is this year's Editor-in-Chief, and Miss I. Ruth Martin is the Faculty Sponsor.

EDITORIAL STAFF: Thomas Thompson, Sports; Janie Chavis, Editor-in-Chief; Michael Flanagan, Organization; Norma Jean

Sampson, Production; Mike Tiddy, Cartoonist; and Roy Dusan, Organization.

THE REPORTERS INCLUDE: Buntie Riddle, Woody Jones, Faye Lewis, Jane Chavis, William Staunton, Roy Dusan, Ernest Jones, Oliver Vestal, Jenny Dew, Macie Locklear, Larry Raynor, Mary

Jem Foltz, Dan McPhaul, Miss I. Ruth Martin (Faculty Sponsor), Pat Bullard, Delores Carter, Janie Chavis, Randall McArthur, and Juliet Oxendine.

MEMBERS BACK ROW: Archie Bohanon, Michael Flanagan, Andrew Bohanon, John Rullo, Euel Jones, Fred Berry, and Walter Bell. FRONT ROW: Dan McPhaul, Bill Donahoe, Rusty Frey, Peggy

Pembroke Union

The Pembroke Union is a new organization to arrive on the campus. The purpose of this group is to stimulate conservative thought among the students. This group plans to have an informal debate group based upon the Oxford Union. Additionally, this club sponsors lectures by both conservative and liberal individuals.

Fred Berry, Vice-President; Dr. Warren I. Smith, Faculty Advisor; Frances Hester, Secretary; Walter Bell, Director; Michael Flanagan, Director.

Mr. John McGinn, Peace Corps representative, addresses the Union.

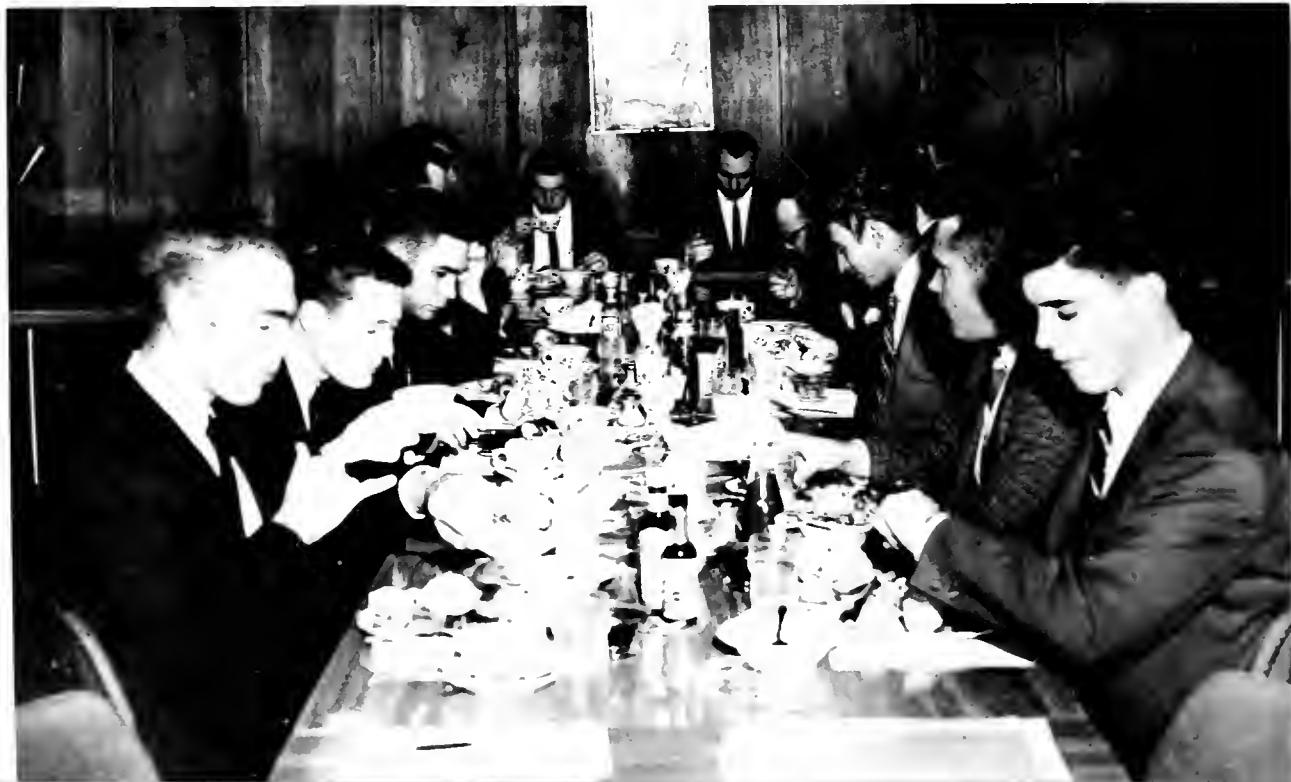

Mr. McGinn has lunch with Union members.

The Toastmasters Club is an educational organization which helps people to learn to speak in public and to be able to conduct meetings. Twice a month the members of this club enjoy meals and speeches, after which awards are made.

The Gavel Club enjoys the meals as well as the speeches.

OFFICERS: Frank Strickland, Administrative Vice-President; Mr. Victor Wolf, Faculty Sponsor; Robert E. Lee, Educational Vice-President; Carl Ferguson, Sergeant of Arms; Mr. John DuVall, Faculty Sponsor; Vance Houston, President.

Who's Who Among Students In American Colleges and Universities

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities is a national organization which annually honors outstanding college students. Those elected are presented with a gold key, are listed in the annual publication WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES, and have access to the organization's placement bureau which furnishes recommendations to employers and graduate schools. Local selection is made by the Student Government and faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service to the college.

W.R.A. girls in action.

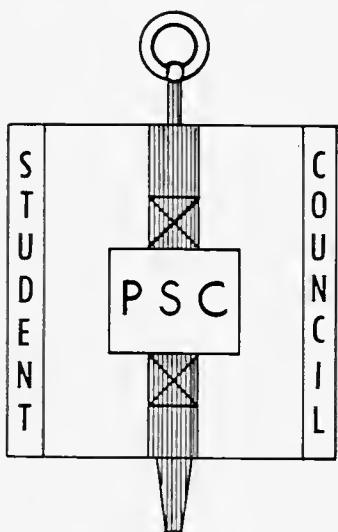

The Women's Recreation Association provides many opportunities for good fun, good exercise, and good games. This organization is composed of girls interested in athletics, and it has become a vital club for those who desire recreational life on campus.

The gifted Miss Fleming, Faculty Advisor, becomes more gifted prior to her changing of name from Fleming to McRacken.

Student Council

Cornelius Maynor, President; Bunite Riddle, Vice-President.

Acting as intermediaries between the students and administration is the Pembroke State College Student Council. Their work in this area is manifold and varied. Perhaps their most unpleasant task is meting out justice to student felons. They are the head of all campus organizations, and they supervise student social and athletic activities, Thursday night socials, intramural sports, and most of the formal dances.

Chorus

Music is a universal language which expresses the desires, hopes, loves, and passions of all men. Music is a comfort to the listener and a joy to the performer. The College Chorus provides a chance for each student at Pembroke to participate in music. The Chorus provides the College and surrounding communities with the joy of music. Under the direction of Mr. Fred Bohrer, the Chorus performs at various community functions and gives annual Christmas and Spring Concerts.

Metropolitan Club

A smile, a handshake, and the goal of understanding one another are characteristics of the members of this club. Although men may continue to battle one another for ancient causes, this group of students has proven to our college, and perhaps to mankind, that humanity can work together, play together, and learn together. It may be through such a harmony that these leaders of tomorrow may find the answers to those problems which concern every man, whatever his race or creed.

The Young Democrats' Club of Pembroke State College is a campus organization whose purpose it is to stimulate in young people an active interest in affairs of government, to increase the efficiency of popular government, and to foster the ideals and principles of the Democratic Party.

MEMBERS BACK ROW: Mr. Adolph Dial, Mr. Kent Autor, Harold Elkins, Benford Hardin, Michael Church, Robert Taylor, Dan McPhaul, and George Swanson. FRONT ROW: Emily Coble, Fanny

Coley, Ellen Lambeth, Joanne Formyduval, Linda Riihinen, Karin Lindahl, Gloria Shook, Hilda Ferguson, Pauline Conlon, Marion Bass, and Walter Bell.

Collegiate 4-H

One of the first groups with which a young boy or girl comes in contact in his early and formative years is the 4-H. Here, he discovers, friendships and inspirations that will probably remain in his memory for a lifetime. Because the lessons he learns from participation in this group do provide him with guidance and inspiration during that period of his life that is so important, it is necessary and very worthwhile that the leadership he knows here is strong and sufficient for his needs. Likewise, his college years offer a challenge new to him. Through membership in such a group he achieves a sense of security and support in his ideals and goals which may have seemingly been beyond reach formerly. This organization represents more than an opportunity to work or learn. Together--it is a way to know together those things which are most meaningful.

A plane is struck from the sky, an auto lies tangled and wretched by the side of the road, a child sleeps quietly in the grasp of death. How easy it is at such times to forget the word "Faith." And yet, it is at such times that this same small, simple word takes on a full and deep meaning. Perhaps it is not until such a moment that one can truly know the word and the depth of its fulfillment. It is then that its boundaries are reached and tested, its strength questioned and scorned.

But in quiet moments, in happiness, in contentment, its presence is felt and realized. It offers satisfaction, assurance in oneself and fellowman. At both times, faith has proven itself--yet how greater its meaning becomes when it is shared whether for comfort or for enjoyment. An individual may discover an enriched sense of value in his own faith through group experience. In an atomic age such as the one we have come to know as our own, this element of faith can mean so much by adding the fragrance of optimism to our daily philosophies.

Faith is not easily obtained nor easily destroyed if it has been rich and true enough. Its dwelling place is in the indestructible confines of the soul. It is fostered by the strength of heart and mind. Through hands together and hearts together, one finds new food and freshness of purpose for his faith. Joined with the faiths of others, one's hope and belief finds reason for being. Communication through understanding is sufficient to instill new confidence in the ways of man and God. This organization offers just such an opportunity for satisfaction and renewal.

Baptist Student Union

A faith, a church, a religion--all offer men an opportunity to realize the importance of a belief in a Supreme Being, an Almighty greater than himself. For while man must have faith in his own capacities, he must be able to look to a Higher Being for assurance and confidence in the future. This organization affords its members this opportunity and necessary guidance.

OFFICERS: Sue Ann Strickland, Treasurer; Julia Orrell, Vice-President; Ellen Lambeth, President; and LaVerne Edge, Secretary.

Methodist Student Movement

The responsibility of charity--the giving of oneself and one's efforts--is, in itself, one of the basic foundations of this organization. The importance of the Methodist Student Movement rests upon its desire to make some effort to satisfy the needs of all people. It recognizes the requirements of charity, and it endeavors to help itself through offering its help to others.

COUNCIL MEMBERS: Rev. David McKay, Pastor Advisor; LaVerne Edge, Secretary; Sue Ann Strickland, Treasurer; Ellen Lambeth, President; Roxanna Deese, Music Chairman; Artia Jones, Exchange Program Chairman; Miss

On the way to the State Convention at Winston-Salem are Jacqueline Lowry, Ellen Lambeth, Janie Maynor, and Miss Betty Ashbrook.

Shown at the fellowship supper for the exchange program given by North Carolina State are Mr. Ben Han, Emry Kressley, Julia Orrell, LaVerne Edge and Ellen Lambeth.

Newman Club

Every person -- no matter what sex, nationality, race, or creed--knows and understands the feeling of searching for something, the desire for self-fulfillment. Perhaps, this longing is with a person when he is born or maybe it comes with the realization of living in an imperfect world full of trouble, sorrow, and frustration. Whatever its source, whatever its purpose, the existence of this desire is beyond denying. It dwells deeply in each one of us and cries continually for recognition and resolution. Its presence drives men in many directions -- some lead to the benefit of society, others lead to the destruction of mankind. Its origin hides in antiquity and its future holds our destiny. The force of its demands is unyielding, its nature remains without identity.

The Newman Club is composed of the students of the Catholic faith. Its meetings are concerned with the spiritual enrichment of the student's everyday life, and emphasis is placed upon the personal and religious problems that a student encounters.

OFFICERS: Karl Stehle, President; Dr. Jose Rodriguez, Faculty Sponsor; James Riordon, Vice-President.

Cheerleaders

The enthusiasm that accompanies any sport provides a spirit for the event, and the cheerleaders are a valuable aid for keeping the spirit and the enthusiasm high. With their bright colors, their unending store of pep, and their enthusiasm, our cheerleaders are as much a part of our sports as the players themselves.

Dean's List

The Dean's List consists of those students who have earned a 2.4 average for the semester. The achievement of Dean's List status entitles the student to particular academic liberties not granted to the general student body.

College Marshals

The title "College Marshal" is one of the highest honors which a student can attain at Pembroke State College. Marshals are chosen on the basis of scholastic ability, personality, character, and personal appearance. Marshals are nominated by the student council and chosen by the faculty. To the right are Henry Ward Oxendine, Chief Marshal, and Mr. James A. Jacobs, Faculty Advisor.

MARSHALS: Joanne Formyduval, Luther Harrell, Donna Fauscett, Walter Bell, Brenda Goodman, and Benford Hardin.

Miss Pembroke State College Contest

Polly Yow furnished music for the evening, and Bill Scott acted as master of ceremonies.

The Miss Pembroke State College beauty pageant is the only beauty contest held on the campus. The contestants are chosen from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes. The girls chosen compete in beauty, personality, poise, and speech.

A screening committee consisting of five faculty members and five students choose the top five finalists. The student body then votes on the five girls, and the girl receiving the majority of votes becomes the formal representative of Pembroke State College. Miss Betty Jane Campbell acts as coach, instructor, and counselor.

Before the contest, a luncheon was held for the contestants, their escorts, and the judges.

Miss Pembroke State College, 1963-64

This year, Homecoming proved to be an occasion long to be remembered. While the college and high school bands played, the floats passed in review, after which all attended the pep rally. Everyone was anticipating the basketball game.

While crowds watched, Miss P.S.C. of 1962-1963, Judy Locklear, crowned the newly-elected Miss P.S.C., Dessie Oxendine.

Artist Series

The annual Artist Series consists of professional talent in the arts. These programs are supported by the student's activity fee. The 1963-64 series opened with THREE IN CONCERT-- a concert marimbist (Douglas Williams), and two dancers (Harriet All and Paul Owsley).

Karen Duke, in a program entitled "Songs with Guitar", charmed the Pembroke student body with her sweet, clear voice, her vivid interpretations, and her fine musicianship. Her program represented a history of folk songs, from English, French, and Spanish to American folk songs and ballads.

The American Brass Quintet gave a concert at Pembroke which featured brass music from all periods. This organization consists of two trumpets, tenor and bass trombones, and French horn, and they produced a rainbow of brassy colors which impressed the audience. The members of this group are: Ronald K. Anderson, trumpet; Robert W. Heinrich, trumpet; Arnold Fromme, tenor trombone; Gilbert Cohen, bass trombone; and Daniel E. Cowan, French horn.

Are women fickle? You may or may not have discovered the answer to this question at Mozart's COSÌ FAN TUTTE (School For Lovers). This scene from the hilarious opera shows the National Opera Company production as it appeared on our campus.

The Karlsrud Chorale, a male Choir, presented a varied program of choral music. This fine group sang examples of music from all periods and all national styles.

The Artist Series ended with a performance of Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew by the National Players of Washington, D.C.

ATHLETICS

Pete Monroe
Director of Intramurals

Intramural Sports

The intramural program is set up within the student body to give the students an opportunity to participate in physical activities other than varsity team sports. The program has a keen sense of competition and promotes good sportsmanship among the participants. Pembroke has intramural football and basketball, both of which are under the direction of Pete Monroe.

Early this fall, many young men were seen chasing the football over the green of the football field. Later, during the winter, many of us saw the gym lights burning late into the night. If we stopped and poked our heads around the door, we found an active group of young men, busily pursuing the game of basketball. These weren't necessarily varsity men; rather, they were the students who delight in physical activity and competition. After a long day of classes, they were exercising their bodies in order to clear their brains for an evening's study. These "on campus" endeavors give them a chance for wholesome recreation as well as discussion of the interesting points of the games. In the halls during the day, the conversation swirls over the heads of those who do not realize the extent of our intramural program, and those who are involved in it feel just a little superior.

BRAVES REBUILDING

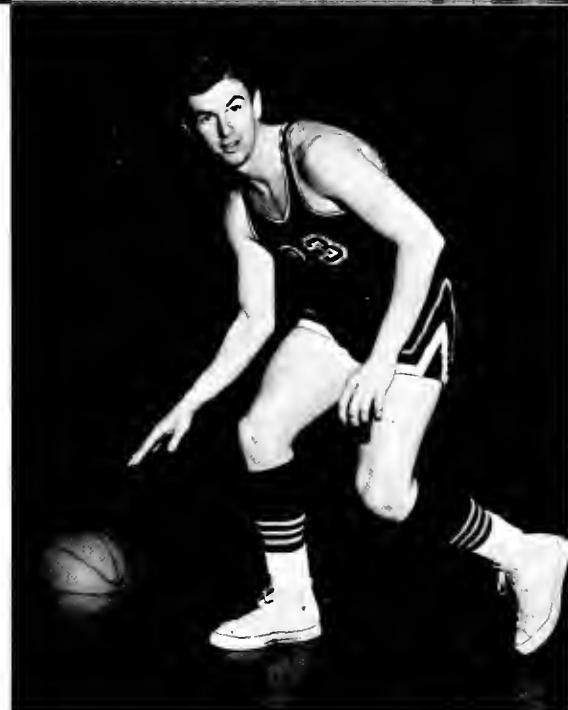

The Braves opened the 1963-64 season under the leadership of Coach Howard Dean. This was Coach Dean's first year as head coach of the Braves, and he was greeted by many problems: First, last year's graduating class took away all but two lettermen, and, second, there was a lack of experience which hindered progress considerably. All in all, it was a year of rebuilding, with the Braves jelling near the end of the season to produce hopes for next season.

Cross-Country

The 1963 Cross-Country team completed one of its most successful seasons. The team finished the season with a record of five wins and only two losses. The wins came over St. Andrews twice by the scores of 23 to 32 and 21 to 37. Other victories came over High Point and Atlantic Christian College twice. The team lost to a powerful Davidson squad and to High Point College by close scores.

The team was led by George Brown, a freshman from Lindenhurst, Long Island. Brown placed first in four of the team's seven meets, and he also set new course records in the 4 and 3.8 mile runs with times of 21.31 and 20.36.

Baseball

Traditionally, the baseball season winds up the inter-collegiate sports season at Pembroke. This year the coach was favored with a very good turn out. Many of the hopefuls were returning lettermen. Coach Pennington was one of the few newcomers to the team, but one with plenty of experience and action in this sport. This combination, along with excellent student-spectator participation, gave us the promise of a good season.
